He wears a lot of Animal clothing in a medium which covers 38-40 inch chest. With Superdry a medium is 38 inch and a large is 40 inch. Do Superdry mens clothes tend to come up small or would I be ok with a medium? I can't get him to measure his actual size without arousing suspicion and he doesn't currently own any Superdry clothing so I'm hoping you kind folk may be able to help. Thank you. I have a couple of Superdry t-shirts and around the neck / chest the medium and large and pretty much the same. The large is just longer. Animals don't wear clothes and Superdry are not even shower-proof. for superdry if hes a large buy him a extra large,superdry are retarded at sizing.i bought some stuff friday and i had to buy one size above anything else to fit me Same as me and although I don't have any superdry stuff I automatically go medium. Reading this thread though I always wish my jumpers were a little longer... Go large? Especially if it's a tight fitting one. for superdry if hes a large buy him a extra large,superdry are retarded at sizing,i bought some stuff friday and i had to buy one size above anything else to fit me Quite the opposite for me. I'm usually a medium and have 3 medium Superdry jumpers (sweatshirts) that fit perfectly. Definitely always go the next size up for Superdry stuff. Thank you very much gents. Agreed with the sizing increase - I'm usually a small for tees but find Superdry to be ridiculous. I almost ripped something when trying it on once, that would've been awkward! Superdry are not even shower-proof. This. Most misleading name of a company to buy a coat from. Also found that you need to go up a size when buying t-shirts and tops from them. Trousers/jeans and the tracksuit trousers all seem to be normal in regards to other brands. Just when we were doing so well. That jumper is alright! I'd wear it! Not that I am a male model or anything, but my taste likes it. FYI, I find superdry sizes all over the place. I'm a small medium an large in t-shirts apparently.... Thank you 5UB. Hopefully it will appeal to him, I just thought I would steer him away from Animal for once. You guys still have it easy on the sizing front, female sizing is just absolute fiction. Page 2 All modern clothing seems to be designed for super skinny midgets. clothing ranges suck **** when your really tall Was quite surprised when I got my first superdry shirt. I'm 6' tall and normally fit into a L size from most other places. L from superdry was almost skin tight =\ They come up quite small, im normally a Medium/Large in most things, 6'3", 36" waist 42" chest. Need an XL in shirts as theyre very small across the shoulders Hope this helps Animals don't wear clothes and Superdry are not even shower-proof. My Superdry coat keeps the rain off perfectly fine. Superdry sizes are ridiculous. Fat Face has me as a medium, Joules and Boden have me as a large and Superdry's x-large is so small it's like a second skin. I love superdry sizing, it compliments my muscles and makes them look bigger My girlfriend tried on some superdry jackets the other day and they were all awful. Some had like 5 different zippers for the main zip. Does not compute? I love superdry sizing, it compliments my muscles and makes them look bigger All about the slim fit stuff tbh, big shoulders and small waists look even bigger All modern clothing seems to be designed for super skinny midgets. clothing ranges suck **** when your really tall This wish i could wear a superdry coat but they dont do bigger lol. being 6'6 its hard also their arm length is crazy, my arm length is longer than my height. Sucks trying to find good clothes. Small folks got it good. This wish i could wear a superdry coat but they dont do bigger lol. being 6'6 its hard also their arm length is crazy, my arm length is longer than my height. Sucks trying to find good clothes. Small folks got it good. I've always found the arms to be longer than normal. Even 2 sizes up. The jacket I have had to be a xxl or it was to tight under my arms. Superdry is very small I find. As Nodigiddy123 says, you might need to go 2 sizes up, its like its made for small boys. Superdry do some of the best sizing around, it's not for fatties I guess this is the problem with so many other brands using 'vanity sizing' people get used to their 'size' elsewhere (32 actually being a 34 etc.. in some cases) He's only 5ft 7 so not very tall and just average build. Jesus, that's really not very tall! Do you carry him around in your pocket? If so doesn't need clothes. Just a fur outfit and some boxing gloves. Boing boing... All modern clothing seems to be designed for super skinny midgets. clothing ranges suck **** when your really tall I'm 5ft 6' and whatever trousers I buy are either SO long that I need to get them to a tailor, or the hip size is so large,I can fit both legs in one. tall people have it easy Even 2 sizes up. The jacket I have had to be a xxl or it was to tight under my arms. I tried a jacket and had a similar problem, normally an xl but couldnt even get the Superdry xl on without worrying about ripping it due to it being tight across the shoulders. I have a superdry coat - it's the largest size (XXL) and it fits like a glove - but I'm not exactly skinny Superdry stuff seems to err on the "smaller" side of things - probably done on purpose to stop fatties wearing their label! Superdry is without exception the biggest rip off of anything I have ever come across. Page 3 SuperDry? You mean SuperGay right? I'm a medium and could just about fit into a size XL Superdry jacket. I'm 5ft 6' and whatever trousers I buy are either SO long that I need to get them to a tailor, or the hip size is so large,I can fit both legs in one. tall people have it easy You'll find most tops for tall people are not very good for fit unless you go for short sleeve t-shirts/shirts. In order to get the correct arm length, you have to up a size but then the body is pretty baggy. To say tall people have it easy is kinda silly. You are actually quite a bit shorter than average hence the problem (unless you are counting anyone 5'8" and above as tall). Their clothes are fitted and are meant to be worn as fitted. Sounds like he's be fine in a medium. Superdry sizing is rubbish UK brand too! Get him one size above his usual unless he wants to look like the garment is painted on! Superdry clothes always look **** to me. They always look too tight whenever I've seen someone wearing them. Bought a classic duffle coat few months back, love it. Again with everyone here, had to go XL as I could barely do the zip up on a large. Thank you to all those who have helped with sizing. I knew the womens stuff came up smaller than usual but wanted to check the guys stuff came with the same issue. Fortunately if it turns out to be wrong then our local store is one of the few where you can return stuff bought from the net. They are quite fitted so if ya a bit fat they would look stupid so lose some wait and stop complaining lol. I took my kids to a farm park in surrey last weekend and just as I turned to my wife to say 'this place is full of super dry ****' a late 30s man with super dry written all over him walked past. Oh how we laughed. Glad it's not just me that finds this brand quite amusing. The reason why it's small is it's originally for the Japanese market. SuperDry is and always has been a UK company. I think it's overpriced and from my experience only fits pre-pubescent body shapes properly. If you have muscular thighs/shoulders/biceps much of it won't fit you. Glad it's not just me that finds this brand quite amusing. The reason why it's small is it's originally for the Japanese market. It has nothing at all to do with Japan. UK founded and operated and largely targeting the UK market. I'm medium in all t shirts and jumpers etc. with my superdry jacket (fairly tight fitting design) I had to move up a size to large. If you're in a shop, just ask a random guy around the same build as your boyfriend to try a jacket on to see how it fits. Or, just buy Medium & Large, then take one back..
